Our project in Jefferson County is a subcommittee of Jefferson County Soil and Water Conservation District. We are made up of individuals, businesses, schools, farms, parks, and leaders from across the community. We aim to:

- 1.) Educate our community about pollinators' role in our lives.
- 2.) Show people how they can help pollinators.
- 3.) Establish pollinator habitats throughout the community- at schools, businesses, parks, public spaces, and private land.

This project will take individuals, groups, the media, businesses, parks, and organizations of the community to help continue building this pollinator Action Group!

Spence Restoration Nursery

Plants sold by the Jefferson County SWCD are produced by Spence Restoration Nursery in Muncie, Indiana.

They provide high quality nursery-propagated native plant material for the restoration of native plant communities and the creation of environmentally sound natural landscapes.

The network of roots is spread through-out the container with no encircling tendencies. The 2 3/8" square by a 3 3/4" deep open bottom pot allows production of a healthy root system that spreads rapidly into the soil after the trans-planting. Open bottom pots allow water to move freely into and out of the pot.

Guaranteed true to type and in good condition at pickup time. If for some reason your choice of plant is not available, we will replace with a comparable plant.
